

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK

Old Faithful Basin

OLD FAITHFUL

- Old Faithful Geyser was named in 1870 by members of the Washburn Expedition.
- Yellowstone National Park contains more than 300 geysers, the largest concentration in the world.
- Nearly half of the world's hydrothermal features (greater than 10,000) are found in Yellowstone National Park.
- Iceland, New Zealand, and Kamchatka (Siberia) are the only other places with large concentrations of hydrothermal features.
- Yellowstone National Park rests on one of the largest active volcanoes in the world. The ground in Yellowstone emits 30 to 40 times more heat than average for North America.
- In 1897, Henry Klamer built the first store in the Old Faithful area, known as Old Faithful Lower. In 1915, Charles Hamilton purchased the Old Faithful Store. He founded Hamilton Stores and operated a variety of concessions in the Park for the next 88 years. Since 2003, Delaware North Companies Parks and Resorts continue to operate the retail concessions at twelve General Stores throughout Yellowstone National Park.
